

Decomposed resilience: heat-only vs heat-while-wounded

Physiology panels use endpoint 31 °C vs 28 °C contrasts split by wound state; morphology panels use wounded-only time-to-onset hazard ratios.

Values are row-max scaled within each response and scope. Positive values mean a larger heat penalty; negative values mean the 31 °C group reached a milestone faster or had a higher endpoint value.